North Quincy, Massachusetts

LIFE BEGINS AT 2:30 -

From Our Principal

"To thine own self be true,
And it must follow, as the night the day,
Thou canst not then be false to any man."
Shakespeare

As we celebrate our silver anniversary, it becomes a suitable time to contemplate on three essential periods of development: past, present, and future.

The above quotation can be of deep significance in our meditations appropriate to such aspects of time, and may serve as a guide to security and contentment in our own lives. It is highly recommended as a fundamental principle to follow.

Surely our graduates, a large number of whom have distinguished themselves most favorably, must have had consciously or otherwise this motto in mind. They have set a most suitable goal for our own future and one that can only be reached through efforts and ideals comparable to their own.

May the members of this class succeed to an even greater degree.

Your welfare is our major interest. Our staff stands ever ready to serve.

Best wishes always,

JAMES S. COLLINS, Principal

MISS CAROLINE WELCH

Jo Our Dedicatee

Her earnestness of purpose, her mastery of the art of teaching, her generous sympathies, and her spiritual integrity have quickened our minds into purposeful action. To Miss Caroline Welch, who is the embodiment of those ideals she holds before us, we dedicate the MANET for 1952.

Dan breaks away for 52 yards against Milton.

FOOTBALL

Fair to Middlin'

The North Quincy gridsters, after many days of practice, tried their talents at the Hingham Fair Grounds and fared pretty well, winning 7-0. At Dedham, the boys blossomed quickly in the first half but wilted under the pressure of the Red and Gray and just escaped narrowly, 19-18. The following game's outcome was inevitable as the Maroon and Gold machine from Weymouth rolled over Quincy Stadium. They hit their lumps, though, in grabbing a 20-0 victory from the stubborn Raiders. When Norwood went home, she went on the short end of a 19-7 score. In that game our defensive platoon outdid themselves by scoring most of the points. The story of the Milton game should be a different one. In spite of Mahoney's quick opening jaunt of 52 yards down into scoring position, a bad break hurt North and we came home with only six points as opposed to the Whiz Kids' 13. Next game, North really had a chance to sing their victory song as we marched all over Braintree, 27-7. It seemed that everyone clicked that day. Frye intercepted four passes; he wasn't satisfied with catching his own. To make a long story short, on Thanksgiving we sang the blues. It was a fighting North team, and we saw some great running from ailing Doug McLeod, but we also saw Quincy win the game, 21-0. All in all, 'twas fair to middlin'.

BASKETBALL

Close, but No Cigar

They were just a bunch of sharpshooters from North Quincy who, with a break or two, would have finished the season in the Garden, but Tourney or no they gave the fans a banner brand of basketball wherever they played.

Our Raider Quintet showed right from the start that they meant business. They quickly disposed of Natick (37-29) and Brookline (53-32), but were turned back at Watertown (45-46). The boys dumped Boston College High (53-24) before dropping another closey to Quincy (44-48). Beating Taunton (46-36) on our home grounds started the Red and Black on a healthy seven-game win streak including Brockton (59-49), Brookline (48-36), Watertown (44-23), Braintree (49-36), Thayer (52-33), and Braintree (69-52). The Hoopmen took a trip to Lynn English only to suffer a setback (35-41) because of the absence of Buddy Frye. At Weymouth, North stayed on top to the tune of (34-31) and shortly afterward hit their pinnacle by turning back highly touted Attleboro (65-60). In this game Frye showed Attleboro his own technique and hit for 29 big markers while Al Elkhill had his best night hooping 17 points. Elkhill, a sharpshooter, gets a high percentage of his shots in every contest. Bobby Murphy, who gives the crowd an education in basketball magic in every game, took the reigns at Brockton and got the game winning points in the final minute of play (42-41). Although the pressure was on (Mr. Mullarkey has expressed his desire to be in league competition as the pressure is always on North, an independent team), North brushed aside Wakefield (61-34) and Mission (47-32). They suffered their biggest blow at the hands of Attleboro (46-47). Although it was only by a point, this game definitely hurt the team as they dropped their next two to Weymouth (47-53) and to Quincy (50-54). Mahoney did a good job at Quincy setting up Wally Frye but all in vain, as the Blue and White administered the coup de grace.

The Raiders finished the '52 season with a creditable 15-6 mark after playing the longest schedule of any South Shore team.

Ray Gillis, who was at first referred to as the "perfect sixth man," finished the season as a regular starter because of his superb ball-handling. Bob Benson was used almost exclusively for the boards as was Paul Higgins. Much is expected from Higgins next year. Skip Campell was one of Coach Mullarkey's steady defensemen. Although North had able reserves in Spero Coulacos, Joe Cataldo, Malcolm MacLeod and Dan Breingan, there wasn't the height that John Mullarkey would have liked.

Jump, Bobby, jump!

The Boys Pile Up Points

The ol' team was in dire straits for lack of a coach until Bob Gentry, former Bowdoin flash, saved the day. His arrival has allowed the boys to continue knocking off teachers who happen to venture across the fourth floor corridor after school. The mighty heaves of many a hopeful can still be heard shaking the walls of the armory, whose dirty floor and sharp corners have frustrated many an aspirant's bid for success. "Hurley Inc." are piling up points in their customary manner, with Harold copping the class C title in the 1000 yard run. Ace Miller is soaring in the stratosphere, and Bruce Quirie, too, is beginning to sprout wings.

Let's take a quick look in the locker room. We look for Riddie Roberts but all we can find is a monstrous cloud of dust floating in the vicinity of his locker. (Danger—gunpowder.) As we leave this happy scene, we hear shouts of "Who's the joker with the cold water?"

Fuz, Murph, Doug, and Dave smile for the photographer after winning a relay.

Harold limbers up out front.

CROSS COUNTRY

Away We Go!

Once again "Doc" Lyons turns from his test tubes and says, "Let's go, men." The "men" who have often shocked passers by in their underdressed practice jaunts, dig in their spikes. They think grimly "I'll finish this time if it kills me," or "At least I'll get a ride back." Tiger Burnham, the hard-working manager and honorary mascot of the team, issues the compasses. And they're off!!!

Will Gadsby make another magnificent one-shoe finish? Will those sparkling little raindrops wash out another meet? We shall soon find out. Hark! The thundering herd is approaching. It looks like . . . and it is!! Harold Hurley does it again!! And here comes Joe McDaniel, looking a little green around the gills. He doesn't stop, but desperately dashes toward the locker-room.

It is now a week later and 75% of the runners have been accounted for. One blue and white stalwart has been picked up on route 3, heading South with the swallows, muttering "It can't be much further."

HOCKEY

Keep Your Eyes on the Puck

South Shore Champions for the second straight year, North's outstanding hockey team enjoyed the best season in the school's history.

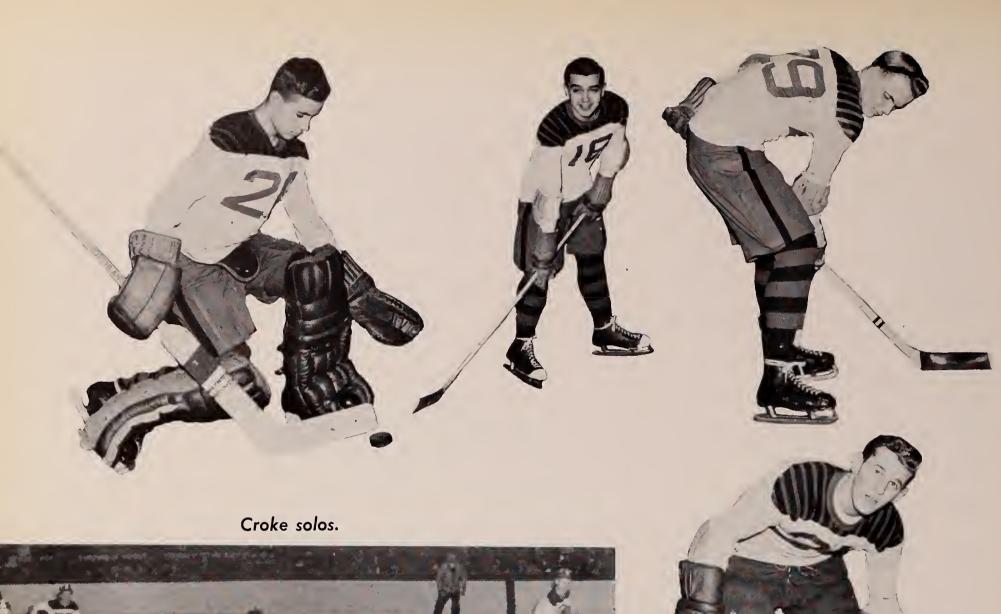

Led by co-captains Paige, MacKenzie, and McNeil, the team skated into a sure place in the Metropolitan Tournament by defeating Quincy High 3 to 0 in the final league game of the season. In the first period of this outstanding game, North was cautious, playing more or less a defensive type of game. In the second period Kenny Croke lit the lamp at 2:03 and North was on its way to a brilliant victory. Dave Paige lit the lamp in the third period at 3:01 and Kenny Croke repeated at 8:02. Bob Forest with his line of Lea Alberti, and Dick Poirer played out of this world. Don MacKenzie set up plays for his line of Paige and Croke while "Porky" McNeil and "Dukie" Crowley were magnificent in their positions of defense men. Greatly aiding the team in his first year of high school play was sophomore Kenny Hayes, whose goal tending was so superb that only seven boys were able to score against him this season.

Coach Hourin believes this is the best integrated squad he has ever coached and that the team should go far in the New England Championship Tournament.

The teams which North played this year are Brockton, Milton, Quincy, Hingham, Whitman, Norwood, Lynn English, Lynn Classical, Milton Academy, and the U. S. Coast Guard.

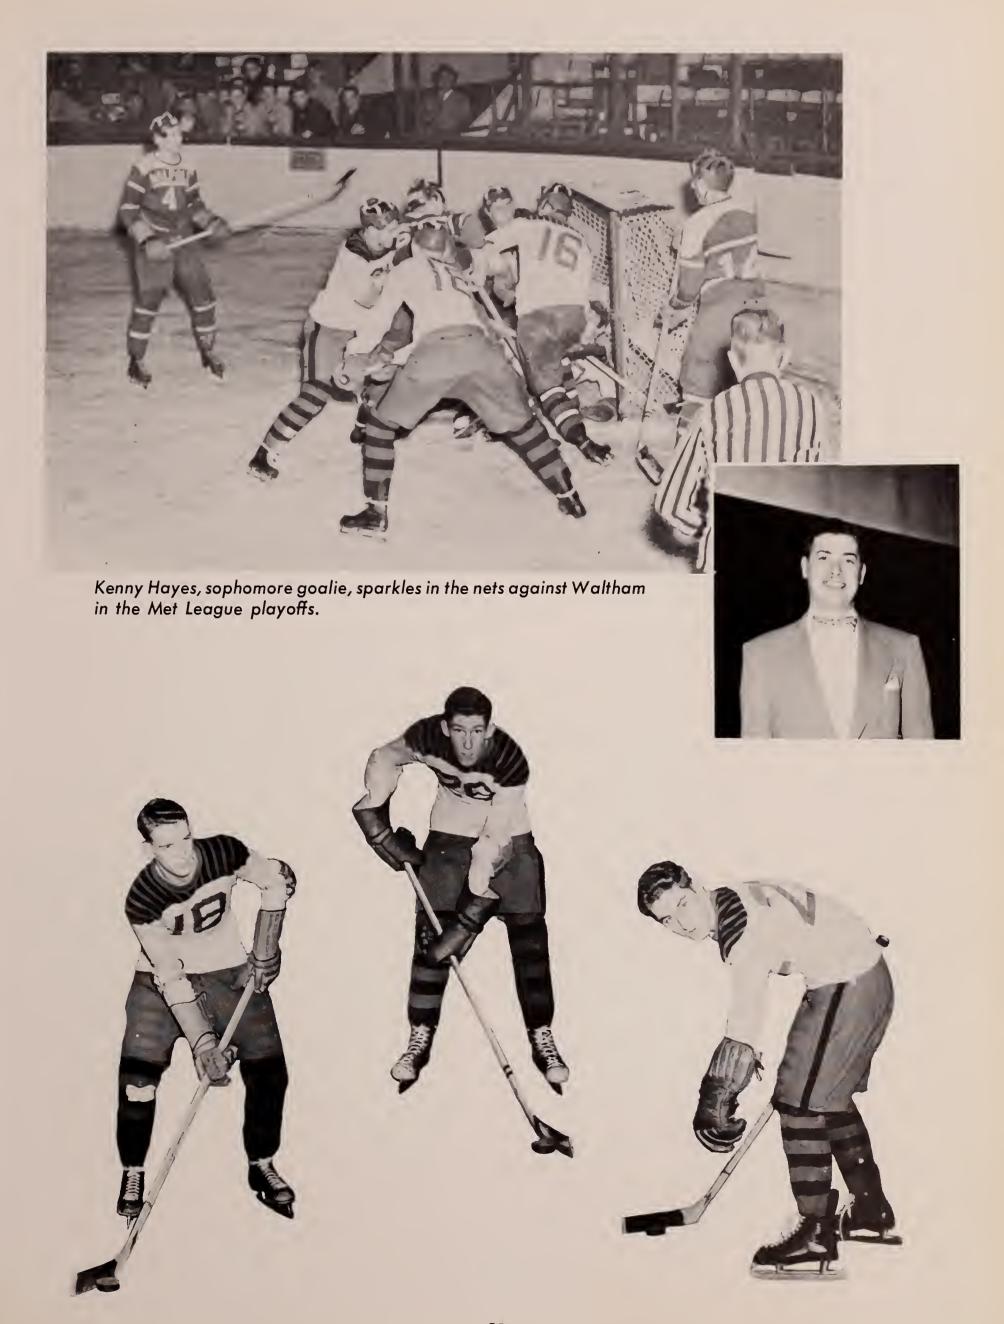

At right: Victory smiles.

BASEBALL

Batter up

Shortly after the call for baseball candidates, a group of hopeful ballplayers trotted out upon the still frozen diamond to get into playing condition. As the weather became more favorable to baseball, the team began to round into shape. The batters swung with precision timing and the pitchers began to cut the corners of the plate with their sharp curve balls. When the actual season started, the long hours of practice were evident as the outfielders made pretty running catches, the infielders reeled off lightning double plays, and the batters smashed solid line drives. As the warmth of spring turned into the heat of summer the same disease affected North as the rest of the country—baseball fever.

Below: The guys grab a look at a Louisville.

TENNIS

This Is the Racket

Perhaps if you happen to see North's netmen practicing at one of the city's tennis courts, and notice the unusual trajectories of balls from every direction resulting in overall chaos, you might wonder, "What new game is this?" The answer, my puzzled friend, is that this is the first day of spring practice and it could happen to anyone. The boys are preparing to barnstorm the high school tennis loop in Roy Sinclair's big, noisy Buick. In the course of a lengthy season the team encounters most of the South Shore schools in addition to win-happy Brookline. Last year North's lone victory was at the expense of our perennial sports rival, Quincy. A good stroke, gentlemen!

Harry, Gil, and Ed get together before practice.

"Gos" takes a little warm up.

GOLF

Teeing off

Invariably, the golf team attracts a relatively small amount of attention from the majority of students at North; just as invariably, however, this group of youthful duffers succeeds in establishing an impressive record each season. Since many of last year's varsity men are coming back for more this spring, the outlook for this year in golf is good.

Golf is unique in that there are practically never any spectators at the matches; in fact, the teams usually play in relative secrecy. When one considers the effort necessary to keep a four-ball match in view, this privacy might be expected. For four or five hours of more or less walking, the boys pursue a sort of activated marshmallow, constantly endeavoring to push it into a small hole in the ground. With this in mind, it is not surprising that the boys play by themselves.

You even find this McNeil kid on a golf course. Par five, Lump.

CHEERLEADERS

With a Vevo and a Vivo

Hip, hip, a familiar beginning to almost all the peppy cheers voiced by our Cheerleaders! Not only do these girls cheer but also they must be acrobats. There is an audible groan everytime the pyramid is performed to the tune of a terrified exclamation from the top-runger, "I'm going to fall!"

The inevitable practice with its aches and pains and those dreaded words, "Try it again," will haunt the future in every activity of even the Cheerleader's subconscious dream world. The hustle and bustle of securing coulottes, white sweaters, blouses, mocassins, and red socks was rewarded when at that fateful first game despite the goose-pimply feeling you're doing something horribly wrong, you don't but instead once in the swing of things you become a well-poised, graceful cheerleader.

UNDERWRITERS' BLUES

The Manet seems to be unique among organized publications; it has the distinction of being one of the few yearbooks that is trying to be printed on time by not meeting its deadlines. This unusual circumstance is largely the work of a stubborn group of prima donnas known as the editorial staff.

It seems that all the other phases of yearbook work are somehow whipped into shape on time. The advertising group, working diligently, managed to convince a sufficient number of the populace that space in the yearbook would be well worth the cost. Others, not so convinced, purchased space, giving as their excuse their desire to help out old alma mammy.

When the expected receipts began to appear slightly inadequate, the patron staff was organized. With fifteen dollars as its minimum, a crew of about twenty set out and foraged the area, getting a dollar here, a dollar there, in return for the honor of being a patron of a still rather nebulous cause.

Meanwhile, other phases of the work were going ahead as if scheduled, when the editorial staff provided a few previews of coming attractions. The senior sketches became long overdue and many of these written on time were unusable anyway; the result was that the adviser finished the remaining fifty assignments. Still, the flash bulbs kept popping and the typewriters kept clacking, this activity showing that some work was being ground out.

The next, and perhaps last, main obstacle seems to be the completion of the writeups of clubs and sports and, again, it is the editorial staff which is delaying action. In years past, there has been considerable delay, confusion, and laziness, but the publication somehow manages to appear before graduation; for this reason, the present Manet staff expects that there will be a yearbook published this year.

CHERCHEZ LES FEMMES

Boop-Boop-E-Doop.

It was the same story every homeroom period: seniors floating all over the institution begging, borrowing, or stealing slips to go down to 126, our club room. It was here that Riddie would play while we would sing, dance, and drink tea.

It was here that the Girls' Club members, including honorary males, planned for, worked for, and accomplished spectacular events. Squaw Rock provided the setting for a three hour paradise for "les femmes" and their food.

Endless time, brain work, and manual labor produced a priest's cassock for a robe and cockscrewed newspapers for the locks of the queen of the fabulous "Witches Waltz." The Christmas play shared with the physically handicapped highlighted a visit from Santa himself.

We whirled in heaven at "Stardust" where Mary and Pete were crowned with golden wreaths, and we could only be brought back to our senses by the invigorating water at the Splash party. Then, right before our eyes, fellow classmates spotlighted into Mary Martins and Ezio Pinzas in a benefit that raised green stuff for this written page.

We played a lot, worked a little, and had a sensational year. Notice the auditorium's new velvet curtains, underclass men; we did it. Multitudes of thanks go to the patience and understanding of Miss Melanson and Mrs. Smith. You made our club year Utopia.

At left, reading clockwise: 1. Terry and Bruce stop the show with "Aba-daba Honeymoon." 2. Pete and Mary are crowned king and queen at the semi-formal. 3. Doug and Raffa keep the crowd in stitches as Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis. 4. Bev tells South America to take it away.

STRIKE UP THE BAND

"Football??—We also go to see the band."

And the band it was that we saw every Saturday afternoon parading down the football field, massing into a patriotic red and black N, and beating out the spirited "Rah for North Quincy" to accompany our red-blooded cheering section.

And what would our football rallies have been (the hockey one too) without the gala pace that the band set. Remember the four new songs they mastered for the Thanksgiving (Amen) game . . . the Friday homeroom periods when we on the fourth floor dissected right angles, conjugated se laver in the conditional, and played hypothetical roulette with Becky Sharpe in old-word casinos to the rhythm of "Sound-Off" . . . the sartorial "spit and polish" of their new monkey suits at the twenty-fifth anniversary party. We'll never forget our band.

HI-STEPPERS

Sutton's bronzed legs strutted up and down our simulated gridiron in perfect—we tried it—rhythm after ceaseless drilling in our gym. Flashing frozen smiles, we hid our conscious counting while with proverbially crossed fingers we hoped for perfect execution of our whirling acts. Wooden heads were in misery as the stage floor would rise to greet their beckoning spin. Irene's mystic power over her stick as against the goal post's stayed with her all season. Strains of "dum dum, da de da de um dum" will forever make us want to swing those batons into action.

LYRICAL LADS AND LASSIES

The lights are dimmed; the expectant audience is hushed, somewhat surprised at the unfamiliar sound of organ music in our auditorium. Then a solemn procession of black-robed figures winds toward the stage to begin the annual Christmas assembly. The long hours of rehearsal are well rewarded as the difficult and beautiful Messíah is successfully presented. This is perhaps the most memorable of the many programs put on by North's largest Glee Club.

Some of the other principal events of the year include the reverent Thanksgiving broadcast, the Memorial Day program with its inspiring message, "Lest we forget," and participation in graduation exercises.

Perhaps most of the fun was had at rehearsals and homeroom period meetings. In room 402 the complex worries of the student were forgotten for a few minutes, and everybody got together simply to sing a couple of songs. Whenever hard work loomed ominously ahead, the constant cheerfulness of Miss Fitts always came to the rescue.

OUT OF NOTHING ... SOMETHING (Wonderful)

Start with thin air (nothing), add a little hot air (50% of the ideas), but don't forget to mix in the sweet air (the strains of a big-name band). Last of all, put on your white tie and tails and get that certain air about you (the good feeling you can't help getting as Prom night draws so close).

Then you've got your something wonderful, a whirlwind of merriment and delight, a forget-me-not night, replete with gorgeous decorations that serve as fitting background for a color panerama from gossamer evening gowns to the tiny cherished favors, your keepsakes after graduation, reminding you of your wonderful Prom.

THE LITTLE FOUR

Trotting along in our big footsteps is an able pack of juniors. They've one more lap to go in their high school life and are still in the lead. The four, neck 'n neck at the head of this pack, have run a beautiful year.

Donny tried dancing to relax his worn-torn nerves. Helen kept up the spirit of this hard-working foursome with her joviality. More money was collected by them than by any other group. Capable Howie kept track. Sweet and pretty Nan (alias Diane) ran the written part of this junior stretch.

We, the Seniors, wish you all the luck in the world. It's been wonderful having a class such as you coming up behind us.

THE BIG FOUR

Everyone knows who they are and what they did so 'Ye Olde Manete' will tell their secrets of how they did it.

Al, proverbially tall, dark, and handsome, takes thick chocolate frappes as vitamin pills to gain quick energy. Being more diplomatic, Phyllis tells jokes (did you hear about the Indian?) at our lunch table. Both sides of arguments battle for Joe while his good nature keeps him (and the other three) calm. And that build! Carol is a tiny wonder. You saw her tear up and down memorable corridors all year long.

The inside motive of this sensational quartet was all the same: to make the class of '52 good, better, and, finally, the best.

Below: Joe and Bob extract class dues from a reluctant senior.

THE LAMP IS LIGHTED

To have the National Honor Society pass in review before the MANET grandstand is an academic pleasure. The members of the society have reached the pinnacle in scholarship, leadership, character, and service throughout their student days at N. Q. H. S. Their achievements, therefore, have merited them the Society's coveted pin, the medal of honor among all high school's cherished remembrances.

The induction ritual both reverent and inspiring is the most impressive assembly of each school year.

Miss Katherine Horrigan is in charge of North Quincy Chapter of the National Honor Society.

DIMES FOR DOING

For one-tenth part of a dollar . . . Everything with the Council operates on a ten cent piece . . . Buy a bookcover—cost you a dime . . . Get a decal for your hotrod—ten cents please . . . Donate to the Red Feather Drive—a dime's enough . . . Or give to the March of Dimes—that speaks for itself. It's a busy crew that run in and out of Miss Enos' room depositing their little silver coins (strictly non-profit) into the box marked "Good Things for N.Q.H.S." Sure enough we benefited from the efforts of Riddy Roberts and the Student Council.

MONDAY-NIGHT MAYHEM

The time set for the opening of the meeting at the Y. M. C. A. is 7:30 p.m.; at approximately 7:40, the first of the boys begin to arrive. At irregular intervals thereafter, more of North Quincy's chosen few show up. Until the formal meeting is called to order, a sort of dignified chaos exists in the main room. Ardent fans of sport cheer their favorites on as the ping-pong tournaments rage, while enthusiasts of a more cultural bent deliver their artistries to the world by way of the old upright piano.

When the meeting is at last called, club members reluctantly file in, unwilling to detach themselves from the sport and, coincidentally, the Tri-Hi-Y. Invariably, the program is of interest to the boys, and it often helps to fill in the time until "Tri" is over, at which time the boys, like the Arabs, silently fold their tents and steal away. The Hi-Y has been and will continue to be, an important factor in the extra-curricular life of North students.

At unpredictable Tri-Hi-Y initiations, new members run the emotional gamut from blind-folded horror to squealing joy to unalloyed relief when they discover that they are all in one piece after harrowing tight-rope walking stunts, air-pressure tricks and Machiavellian-inspired jokes.

But once the girls are wholly themselves again they sparkle through a socially effervescent year, what with Monday-night maleless record hops, a Sadie Hawkins dance with a Romeo for every Juliet, a mystery ride liable to end in a bone-rattling graveyard, a hobo-inhabited dump, or eerily enough not end at all, and this year's novelty an alumnae tea for the career gals.

With Mrs. Heap's versatile suggestions, Tri-Hi-Y never knows a dull minute.

There's no skiing here, girls.

RESEARCH OR REVELRY?

All of the serious-minded students here at school are acquainted with the library and social studies rooms. These rooms not only provide research materials but also give us a place in which to meet "the gang" in order to make and break dates.

The seventy members of the staff are used to hearing someone ask for "a little green book about soooo big with silver lettering; I don't remember the title or the author." And always either Miss Sherman or Miss Countie can find the soughtafter book.

Then there's the day that we students plan to do our research topic (due the second period) in the library during the first period. What!! No slips? They can't do that! But they do, and we realize how important that little space on the third floor is to us.

BOOK WORMS

Books can be fun. The members of the Library Book Recommendation Committee are proving this to themselves and others while, at the same time, they render the school a great service. For many hours in the library they pore over reviews in search of a suitable book. When they find this and obtain Miss Sherman's approval, the hard work is over. The reading of the book is no chore because the rabid reviewer selects one that appeals to him. If his report is favorable, the stout-hearted critic is rewarded by the sight of his classic reclining proudly in the company of classical manuscripts and dog-eared volumes of North's Library. This service benefits the students directly, for the books chosen by their classmates, which range from action packed thrills in the South Seas to interesting habits of the East Mongolian Tree Frog, are bound to please the whole group.

Rich does a little readin'.

LIGHTS OUT

A sinister-looking character has been observed wandering aimlessly through the hallowed corridors of N. Q. H. S. during classes, carrying a black box, some wiring, and a few assorted tools. No need to call the F. B. I., however, for he is merely one of Mr. Forest's able disciples embarking on a mission to set up the microphone in the auditorium or perhaps to show the geography class a film. Manning the projector is only a small part of this embryo Edison's duties. He is behind every major production involving electronics such as the Girls' Club Show, the Thanksgiving broadcast and many more. The Christmas Assembly was a highlight of the club's activities as the boys set up a complex system to connect the organ in the next-door church to the auditorium. It actually worked!

Theirs is a thankless lot, for these unsung heroes are seldom seen except occasionally clambering over the catwalks above the stage or working feverishly over a complicated mechanism attempting to eliminate an occasional SQUAWK over the mike. Everyone has heard their familiar "Testing ... 1 ... 2 ... 3 ... tap tap."

The boys have their hours of enjoyment, too, as the battle-weary tape recorder, the disemboweled audiophone, and the battered walls of 330 will readily testify. The boys know their stuff and work wonders with their equipment, but when that occasional unforseen film snaps there is always a joker in the crowd who will come up with—"What's the matter? Can't you guys run a simple machine?" Oh well, they laughed at Marconi too.

The boys behind the scenes.

THE GRAY LADIES

After doctoring our sick during school time, Miss Gray turns her attention to a healthier group, the Nurses' Career Club. On their first monthly meeting they invited a nun from the Carney Hospital to explain the duties of a nurse.

For the rest of the year they visited many hospitals to get a first-hand view of what nursing really means. So it was that twice last year the Quincy Hospital Staff found itself invaded by a group of aspirants (not to the sickbeds although one of them was enjoying a temperature of 101). After a tour of the wards, tea was served by the student nurses, some of them North Alumnae. The members of the club enjoyed similar visits to the Boston Lying-In and Children's Hospitals as well as a trip to Quincy's Health Center.

BLOOMER GIRLS

To relieve the many hours and days of unrelenting mental sweat in the classrooms, a sports-minded group of senior-high girls gather each Tuesday in the gym to work up plenty of physical sweat as they enjoy keen basketball competition. Running the label-name gamut from Hoopsters to Shooting Stars, every team has a maximum of foul-shot luminaries with resultant scores skyrocketing.

Come spring, the girls move on outside and try their hand at softball and badminton. With Miss McCoy as their indefatigable sponsor, these girls certainly know how to wash "Blue Mondays" right out of their hair every Tuesday.

Oomph!

TEN PINS AND TONIC

Monday's the day that the pin boys at the Norfolk Downs bowling alleys dread. Forty-eight girls from North go shrieking down the stairs to swarm over the alleys. While the boys jeer, those gals lob the balls, and slide down the alleys, and roll up their scores in the most "unusual" fashion.

The girls are all trying for an average of 90 on three strings or for a score of 100 on a single string. Of course, everyone wants to help, and the walls ring with the advice that every girl has to offer on how to hit that middle pin or that one that's left standing.

The long list of girls who are waiting for the opportunity to join up shows just how popular Miss McCoy's girls' bowling club is.

Strike!

i CARAMBA!

The cafeteria echoes with Hispanic-sounding phrases, and so another meeting of our mad Latins is going fortissimo. Over cake and coke the señors and señoritas plan another Gran Fiesta while they are chattering as glibly as if they were talking in their mother tongue.

THROUGH THE GRAPEVINE

What about alumni news? What college has Keith flunked out of this time? Is this Joanie's third or fourth set of twins?

Say that gal in the "Guess Who?" column is cute. But favorite dish "spinach"—ugh! That description of her ideal man sounds vaguely like her steady.

Who'd Bob take to that dance last Saturday? So she finally managed to get his ring. She's been working hard for that; what a struggle!

Our school in "27" sure was small. Just look at that picture in the anniversary issue. A school for midgets perhaps?

Kids, we've got to get more advertisements. Sixty dollars apiece or else. It'll be easy to get the stores to advertise—if you talk to them at gunpoint.

Well, that's our North Star. How could we ever keep up to date on all the "dirt" without it?

Tear down one and two and hold three for pictures!

At right: They're not really reading it; they just want their pictures taken.

You name it; I'll tame it!

FORMALDEHYDE AND SCALPELS

The air is tense in room 424 as a delicate operation is about to be performed. An authoritative figure bends over the subject and speaks: "Scalpel . . . clamps . . . will somebody please pin his legs down? . . . Hey, look what I found." The patient is merely an ill-fated frog who sacrificed all for science on the dissecting trays of N. Q. H. S.

DEAD-EYE DICK

"Which way do you point it, Mr. Burgess?" asks an anxious newcomer to the Rifle Club, but the newcomer soon learns and that's why we win all the time. Thursday the "guns" pile into the Driver Edmobile and take the ferry across to Squantum School and begin to pulverize the walls in preparation for the National Rifle and Postal Matches at Washington, D. C. and the Hearst Tournament. Only a couple of the Annie Oakleys get to Washington, but they bring back the medals.

Ready, aim, fire!

Four female Rembrandts.

PURPLE COWS AND GREEN PEOPLE

A dab and a daub of indigo and tangerine and, presto, another masterpiece is created in room 329, the North Quincy branch of the Louvre. Here a second generation of Charles Connicks produced, in the Christmas Nativity window, a breath of spiritual beauty.

WOMAN'S PLACE IS . . .

Whether or not these girls are begging the question by calling themselves future home-makers we don't know. But what we do know is that they are making the most of Leap Year—'tis said the way to a man's heart is through his stomach—by such delectable lures as succulent spaghetti suppers topped with mounds of Baked Alaska.

The worry —

The wading through a stack of photos to find one elusive candid— The endless planning and replanning layouts to satisfy a crazy whim

Still the haunting worry!

The hectic meetings that burn the midnight oil, no worry here—too tired. Then, the big deadline—judgment day should be so close—Last, but not least, waiting, hoping, praying . . . But that's all behind us.

My initial and most lasting gratitude belongs to John S. Hofferty for his progressive understanding and unceasing industry in helping us bring you this year's publication. I just think after all he went through there has to be something wrong with the guy. I wish to thank my editors and my staff with a special orchid to John Moore for his camera magic. . . . Thanks to Mr. James Bleiler of Purdy's Photographers for his admirable cooperation . . . and to Mr. O'Neill of Bradbury Press for his unselfish efforts to further our progress. . . . An orchid to Miss Lillian Gormley for her most capable management of our commercial problems. . . . Thanks to Mr. James S. Collins for his inspiring message, apropos to this, North's 25th anniversary. . . . And to Mrs. Smith and Miss Morrison who salted away our millions for us.

And to the Senior Class—to those who plan to don tin hats and fatigues, or future members of the horn-rim, white-shoe clan; to everyone, I just want to say, "I'm grateful, mighty grateful." If you don't do anything else, write if you get work.

A JOB WELL DONE—

A first rate yearbook has been generally defined as being a "faithful graphic reproduction of school life."

As printers for the 1952 MANET we make no pretense of having the detailed knowledge of school life at North Quincy High which would qualify us to judge the MANET by this standard. As specialists in yearbooks, however, we see enough yearbooks to distinguish between the ordinary and the exceptional.

We feel that Bob Keay and his classmates have done an exceptional job in assembling the 1952 MANET under the guiding hand of Mr. John Hofferty.

The 1952 MANET is alive from cover to cover, and is certainly a living graphic reproduction of life at North Quincy. We think this is well in keeping with the 25th anniversary celebration of a growing and active school, and we hasten to add our congratulations to both Staff and Advisor for a job well done!
